SERA Fails to Meet $15,117 Payroll for 800 in County England Threatens Italy in War Crisis

MONEY FROM WASHINGTON IS MISSING
Local Director States Funds Should Arrive Here in Few Days
MAY GIVE GROCERIES
Orders For Foods Will Be Issued In Cases Of Emergencies

Uncle Sam failed to meet his payroll in Orange county today. Eight hundred persons were scheduled to receive checks totalling $15,117.76 through the State Emergency Relief administration today, but the money did not arrive from Washington.

A teletype message from John F. Covert, disbursing officer at San Diego, informed the local SERA headquarters that he was returning payrolls on 25 Orange county projects on account of lack of funds.

"You will be notified when funds are available," the message said. "Please do not send any more payrolls for payment until you are notified."

"No Cause for Alarm"
A bulletin received by mail said that "Due to a delay in the transfer of funds from the federal government to the SERA disbursing office, payrolls for certain projects cannot be forwarded from the San Diego office until this transfer of funds is effected."

Terrence Halloran, SERA administrator here, said there is no cause for alarm and that he expects the money will be available by Wednesday or Thursday. As soon as he receives word that the money has arrived at San Diego he will dispatch a special messenger to bring it here, he said. On one other occasion funds were delayed but arrived only a few days late, he recalled.

Cato Keeps Job as Highway Chief Probes 'Fancy' Wages

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13. (AP)—The $7200-a-year job of chief of the state highway patrol still belonged to E. Raymond Cato, former Los Angeles police officer, as R. Ray Ingels, new director of motor vehicles began looking into some "fancy" salaries.

Ingels indicated he was going to take some steps toward "adjusting" the salaries in the highway patrol, pointing out that inspectors in Los Angeles county were paid $355 a month, compared to $250 for other inspectors. He indicated there would be downward revisions.

He shunted to the "lay off" of Young Corbett III, former world welterweight boxing champion, who has been paid $200 a month as a physical training instructor for the patrol.

STATE OFFICE CITY COOLED BY SHOWERS

Board Of Equalization To Establish Branch In Santa Ana
A new state office for Santa Ana and Orange county was assured today. The state board of equalization will establish a branch here in the near future. In the meantime Assemblyman James B. Utt said today he is certain something will be done before long toward opening a branch office for motor vehicle registration.

Announcement of the state board's intention to open an office here was contained in a letter to Assemblyman Utt from Fred E. Stewart, member of the state board of equalization.

"This is to advise you that the state board of equalization has approved opening of a branch office in Santa Ana. I expect this to go into effect in the near future," the letter said.

Assemblyman Utt said today that the office will be established in the Yost theater building, facing Sixth street on the ground floor. This is the building in which the Broadway theatre is located.

One man will be placed in charge of the office, while the six or seven deputies working for the state board in Orange county will make the office their headquarters. No selection has been made by the board for the official in charge of the office.

Assemblyman Utt said he expects a letter in the near future from R. Ray Ingels of the state highway department in regard to the project for establishing a motor vehicle registration office here. Those concerned at Sacramento are anxious that the office be established, he said.

Within the next month a branch office for collection and administration of the state income tax will be opened in Santa Ana. It is expected that this branch will be located somewhere on Main street.

Robert Walker, at present purchasing agent for the State Emergency Relief administration here, and in charge of this office. Later a civil service examination will be held, on which selection of permanent income tax officers will be based.

G. O. P. HEADS LEADER SAYS TALKS WITH 'PLAIN TALK' HOOVER IS NEEDED

Col. Roosevelt, Ogden Mills, David Reed See Ex-President DISCUSS POLITICS! DANGER POINTED OUT

No Mention Of Possible 1936 Candidates Is Made, Report
NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—The republican course in the 1936 campaign is being discussed by former President Herbert Hoover in talks with party leaders in the East, the Associated Press was informed today.

"The visitors to his Park Avenue hotel suite this morning was Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. "We discussed politics," Colonel Roosevelt said, "in its broadest aspects. We talked about matters of republican policy in '36."

"Did you discuss candidacies?" Roosevelt was asked. "Especially no."

While the former president, since his arrival in New York, has steadily refused to amplify his remarks in Chicago—in which he set forth constitutional preservation as a "36 issue—it is known that numerous party leaders have conferred with him.

In addition to Colonel Roosevelt, it was reported Mr. Hoover had conferred with Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury in his administration, and former Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania.

Lawrence Richey, the former president's White House secretary, refused to either affirm or deny these reports.

Methodist Reunion Nears After Breach of 100 Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. (AP)—A church merger even larger in scope than a united Methodism, their primary goal, confronted three groups of Methodists who met today to find a path to unity after 100 years of separation.

A Methodist union with Presbyterianism will be the next step if the conferees realize their hope.

The Methodist-Presbyterian combine has been considered for several years, said Dean James A. James, of Northwestern university. Methodist leaders were confident the four-day session, opened today, would bring Methodists into one fold—the largest Protestant church unit in the country, with 9,500,000 communicants—probably by 1940.

REPUBLICANS HAPPY

Louisiana Senator Sees Victories For Self In Southern States

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Senator Huey Long (D., La.), has decided definitely to run for the democratic presidential nomination in 1936.

He did them, furthermore, that if President Roosevelt was re-nominated, he would run as an independent, unless the republicans nominated someone he could support.

Long's plans were reported to the Associated Press today by several senators with whom he talked. The Louisianan, however, refused to discuss them, saying he had no comment. He did say, though, that if he ran, it would not be to "beat Roosevelt," but to elect himself.

Republican senators in whom Long confided were elated. They felt his decision was a "big break" for the G. O. P., and might swing the election their way. For a long time many republicans have felt they could win if Long would run to take "radical" votes away from the democrats.

Would Hurt Democrats
One Western republican senator, whose state has gone democratic in the past two elections, said there was no doubt it would go republican today, if Long should run. He said the Louisianan would easily take enough votes from the democrats to deliver the state's electoral ballots to the republicans, as La Follette did in 1924.

UTILITY HEAD YANKWICH CITES FREE PRESS, SKIPS OUT SPEECH IN ROTARY TALK ON PROBE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (P)—Possibility that H. C. Hopson of the Associated Gas and Electric system might be cited for contempt of the senate arose today after an agent of the lobby committee was prevented from serving a subpoena on him.

The utility leader had just wound up some occasionally biting testimony to the house rules committee, in which he acknowledged "eagerness" to have work done against proposed control of "unnecessary" holding companies. He attacked congressional "prying" into his personal affairs.

Head Acts Quickly Chairman Black of the senate side acted quickly after his committee agents reported activities of those surrounding Hopson on leaving the house hearing had prevented handing him a subpoena.

Committee members would not comment on what procedure they would take, but it was pointed out that if the senate should cite Hopson for contempt, he could be arrested by the established authorities instead of merely being served with a subpoena. The committee was called into secret session to decide its course.

Hopson had been sought in vain for weeks. Found yesterday near Spring Lake, N. J., he was brought today before the house rules committee, accompanied by a lawyer and at least three men whom spectators called "bodyguards." The "bodyguards" represented the committee.

At the conclusion of more than an hour's testimony, he was rushed from the building before a representative of the senate lobby committee could serve a subpoena on him demanding that he appear "forthwith" before the senate group.

B. B. Robinson, Chicago Utilities executive, told the house committee he spent $7000 for expenses while working against the bill and got $6000 of it back from Associated Gas and Electric.

Spent $830,000 The senate committee has produced testimony that $830,000 was spent by the Associated system in its fight against the utilities bill. Hopson conceded he knew Robinson and what he was doing, and added he had been "very eager" to have Robinson do that.

Assertions that he or his associates had taken profits of $2,800,000 in depression years when stock dividends were being passed were labeled a "distortion" by Hopson, who controls the Associated Gas and Electric company.

"The World war might have been avoided if England had stated in unmistakable language in 1912 that it would tolerate no invasion of France," he said. "Germany then would not have misunderstood the British government's position and the tragedy that followed probably would have been averted."

Make It Plain "We must not run the risk of repeating the same terrible mistake. We must tell Italy in plain, decisive words we are not bluffing and that we are ready to carry out our solemn obligations to the league covenant no matter how drastic an action may be required."

"Our path is clear and the first England must exercise economic and diplomatic measures to prevent hostilities. If those fail, we must call on the league members to unite to halt force by force if need be."

"The only reason why dictatorship is impossible in the United States is because you and I have certain rights which not even the majority can take away from us, and which we have courts to defend," said Superior Judge Leon R. Yankwich of Los Angeles in an address before the Rotary club at the Green Cat cafe this noon.

Judge Yankwich, who was referring to freedom of speech and freedom of the press, pointed out that "we often forget that true freedom cannot exist unless the people have freedom of expression."

Dictatorships like fascism and communism do not tolerate freedom of expression because they postulate an omnipotent state which does not have to recognize any rights in the individual, and these systems cannot exist if opposition is tolerated, said the speaker.

In his talk, Judge Yankwich, an authority on the subject, dealt specifically with the famous trial of John Peter Zenger of New York, a trial which occurred in 1735, and which Gouverneur Morris called the beginning of the American revolution.

The Zenger Case Zenger had criticized the governor of New York, William Cosby, who brought about his indictment for seditious libel. Zenger was defended by Andrew G. Hamilton, a distinguished Philadelphia lawyer, who offered to prove the truth of the publication. This the judge would not allow, as under the law as it stood then, truth was not a defense to a criminal charge.

inal libel. The rule was, Judge Yankwich pointed out, "the greater the truth, the greater the libel." "Hamilton," Judge Yankwich continued, "then appealed to the jury of New York citizens to be witnesses to the truth which he was not allowed to prove. The judge instructed the jury that Hamilton's statements should not be taken as constituting the law. Notwithstanding these instructions the jury acquitted Zenger. Thus the foundation was laid for freedom of the press, which is embodied as a guarantee in the federal constitution and in every state constitution."

Freedom Necessary "Freedom of the press," Judge Yankwich said, "is necessary if free government is not to perish. We owe it to men like Zenger, who have fought for its existence. Its preservation requires constant vigilance. There are constantly being urged measures in abridgment of it, under one guise or another. So much so that the Methodist church through Bishop McConnell has warned us of the danger. And the distinguished Episcopal bishop of San Francisco, Bishop Parsons, warned that if some of the bills before the California legislature had been enacted into law he could be prosecuted for a felony, after every sermon he delivered."

"The attack on freedom is insidious. Freedom of expression and freedom of the press are part of the same right. Several years ago Minnesota enacted a newspaper gag law, which made judges censors of free speech. The entire newspaper profession attacked the law. Its constitutionality was upheld by a five-to-four decision by the supreme court of the United States."

"Criticism is not pleasant. Freedom of expression may be abused. But without it no freedom is possible. That is why fascism, communism and nazism begin by destroying free expression. They must not go their way. Let us be true to the traditions of the Zengers and others who fought and suffered in order that, in the language of Andrew Hamilton's speech to the jury, we might continue to enjoy the right to expose and oppose arbitrary power."

MORE ABOUT PAYROLL

(Continued from Page One) vidual cases where checks have not been received, grocery orders in small amounts will be issued if the federal money does not arrive in a few days, Mr. Halloran said.

L. A. Funds Missing An Associated Press dispatch from Los Angeles said today that 50,000 persons on relief rolls in that county faced a delay in receipt of their money because a $2,000,000 money order has been sidetracked somewhere between the treasury department at Washington, D. C., and this coast.

In the event the missing order has not been found by tomorrow, a new one will be sent from Washington, officials told the Associated Press.

The bulletin from San Diego said that the 25 Orange county projects have been listed and will be given preference in accordance with their standing on the list when funds are received.

Must Stretch Fund Mr. Halloran explained to the county SERA committee meeting this morning that the SERA is now financed from part of an $800,000,000 fund attached to the $4,800,000,000 work program appropriation approved by congress. Because of delay in launching the Works Progress administration, which will take over SERA construction work, this $800,000,000 fund must be stretched over a longer period than was anticipated, Mr. Halloran said.

The total payroll for the SERA this week is $30,000 and money has been received to meet all but about $10,000 of this amount. About $5000 of the deficit is due to persons on direct relief. Money has been received for workers on all the larger construction projects except the Batavia street storm drain at Orange.

Projects Affected The 25 projects for which the payrolls have not been received also include the Bowers Memorial museum project here, a city mapping project, two local nursery school projects and a project for a survey of work opportunities.

Other projects affected are a county-wide library project, county-wide recreational project, county historical study, Fullerton adult education, elementary school soup kitchen and a clerical project, national better housing survey, National Re-employment service coordination project for surveying labor needs, SRS clerical help project, county official map project, county land improvement survey, clerical help for a county agricultural committee, Orange nursery school, Orange high school cannery project, Orange street work, Santa Ana adult education, Valencia high school, a survey of school building adequacy, sewing project, SERA occupational class, remodeling of SERA offices, and a surplus commodity distribution project.

GARDEN GROVE PAIR HURT IN BATTLE Lauro Castro and Mariano Maya, both of Garden Grove, are in the county hospital, and Estevan Becerra, 60, also of Garden Grove, is in the county jail as the result of a battle last night in the Martinez cafe at West Seventeenth street and Varano road.

When Becerra and Maya became involved in a fight, Castro tried to act as a peacemaker, but soon found himself involved. Becerra, swinging a beer bottle, broke it over Maya's head, cutting him severely. Using the jagged neck of the bottle as a weapon, he then assertedly attacked Castro, who also sustained severe cuts.

Becerra was arrested by Deputy Sheriff James Ragan and charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

(Continued from Page One) Senators Glass and Byrd that they would bolt the democratic ticket next year. Taking notice of published intimations to the effect (not carried by the Associated Press), the Virginians reminded neither has ever bolted a party nomination, local, state or national."

Would Fight F. D. R. Long told his senatorial colleagues that he would enter many of the state primaries and give President Roosevelt as much of a battle at the convention as possible. He said if the president was renominated he would then decide whether to run independently or join forces with the republicans.

If the president should be opposed by former President Hoover, or someone of that type, Long said he would run independently. He predicted he would take such states as Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida away from the democrats.

But, Long added, his colleagues said that if the republicans should nominate Borah or someone of that kind, he would jump party lines and throw his support to the liberal republican candidate.

Though Long's plans excited republicans to high hopes for 1936, they were not counting chickens ahead of time. They realized it was possible for him to change his mind. And some wondered whether his strategy was not entirely designed to influence the republican nomination.

10 JAILED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Since noon Saturday 10 men have been arrested in Orange county and lodged in the county jail on charges of drunk driving. Niman, 35, Costa Mesa, arrested at 2:45 a. m. today by Highway Patrolman Dan Adams.

Hart and Aguilar were fined $100 in the Anaheim justice court yesterday, but are in the county jail, unable to pay the fines. Johnson and Hernandez were taken before City Judge J. C. Mitchell of Santa Ana yesterday, and each fined $150. Neither was able to pay his fine, and each was returned to the county jail.

INDIAN RELICS UNCOVERED

The most important discovery yet made by SERA workers in the archeological project in Orange county under the direction of Herman Strand was made today near Costa Mesa.

In making excavations in an old Indian burial ground, workers uncovered a beautifully proportioned stone bowl, 12 inches in diameter at the top. The rim of the bowl is decorated with shell, inlaid in asphaltum.

A second important find was a perfectly carved flat stone pendant, five inches in length, and approximately three inches in width. Several stone beads, approximately an inch and a half in length, also were found.

The collection will be placed in the Bowers museum.

NAB SUSPECT IN ORANGE THEFT

Approximately 10 cases of orange thefts from Orange county groves were believed solved today, following the arrest Sunday night of Frank Simon of the Colonial Apartments, Anaheim.

Steve Duhart and Ezra Stanley of the sheriff's farm theft detail were watching for possible thieves in a grove belonging to J. W. Heterbrink of Fullerton. Simon apparently was in the grove when the deputies began their watch, and nearly two hours later the asserted orange thief drove his car from the grove at a rapid rate of speed, and with the car lights turned off. Duhart and Stanley took after him and made the arrest when they found 20 boxes of oranges in Simon's car.

According to Deputy Duhart, Simon has admitted several thefts in Orange county. He was taken to Fullerton yesterday, when Justice of the Peace Halsey I. Spence sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail.

PWA WAGE DEMANDS TO BE DISCUSSED

Demands for wage increases under Works Progress administration will be discussed Sunday at a picnic of Workers clubs of the county to be held at Irvine park. The discussion is said to be in line with the protest meeting held recently in Birch park here.

According to information received today, District Attorney S. B. Kaufman is in possession of circulars written in Spanish advising all Mexican laborers to organize and demand better wages in the beet fields and on WPA jobs.

The workers were advised to establish headquarters in each community for the purpose of demanding wage increases. The circular was sponsored by an organization of which Pat Chambers, now in San Quentin prison, was named as district president.

GIRL SCOUTS OF CITY RETURN

Two trucks rumbled into Santa Ana yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock returning 44 Girl Scouts and their baggage from two weeks of rough and tumble at Camp Rokili, where Girl Scout camp has been in session.

Packed among their possessions were numerous pieces of craft which they displayed last night to their parents. Wooden buttons, trimmed with raffia, were made by the girls to set off desert cloth frocks and other sports attire. Rings were also made out of the button materials.

Some of the girls had made picture frames and ash trays of bark, which they had then painted with shellac. Pine needle baskets were also among the handicraft pieces. Notebooks of cornstarch paper covers were other items made at camp.

Old-fashioned weaving looms came into prominence when the girls constructed six looms out of prune boxes and other materials which had been taken to the camp. Cloth for envelope purses was woven on the looms.

Campfires at night vivid with the moonlight hike to Jenks lake for popularity, the girls reported. Short nature hikes were made daily, and a table of identified wild flowers was a study spot for the campers.

Stunt nights were highlighted with a puppet show, which the girls presented having made the dolls themselves for a Hansel and Gretel performance, and amateur night around the campfire.

Rations were long for the 98 girls and leaders who attended camp the first week and the 68 who stayed for the second. Breakfast meant five gallons of milk, and luncheon at least a dozen heads of lettuce. Those on kitchen police had a sack of potatoes to peel before each meal, and wash-tubs were used to make stews and soups. Beef came by the half and quarter cow, and it took five gallons of ice cream to satisfy "seconds" at Sunday night suppers.

Withdrawal of one of the four candidates for state commander—Norvin E. Smith of Altadena—was announced today. Smith retired in favor of Dan W. Emmett of Santa Paula.

Rotary's Safety Chief Gets Fine, Ribbing For 'Tag'

Wesley Taylor, chairman of the Rotary club safety committee, who last week received a citation for driving through a boulevard stop at Serra, was on hand at today's meeting to take his ribbing. He was fined one dollar by President Stanley Goode.

Mr. Taylor's defense was based on three grounds. "I never claimed to be an infallible driver," he said. "In the second place, I didn't ask the officer to cancel the tag. He said I went into the intersection carefully, but not lawfully. Finally, the Rotary club is justified in assuming that a man who has had only one citation for a defective lamp, and one parking ticket, is not a reckless driver."

Mr. Taylor stressed the need for protection of life and limb on the highway.

COUNTY SERA LOAD DROPS TO 3338

Indicating that 240 persons formerly on relief or work relief have found jobs, the case load of the State Emergency Relief administration has declined by the above figure since July 11. The weekly report of Terrence Halloran, SERA administrator, showed today that there were 3338 cases on the rolls August 8. On July 11 there were 3578.

Between August 1 and August 8 the decline was 111, said the report.

The total number of persons benefited by the SERA relief program was 11,797 on August 8. On July 11 this figure was 12,453, which represents a decrease of 661.

During the week ending August 8 the SERA unemployment relief and direct relief program required an expenditure of $45,011.16. This figure for the week ending July 11 was $44,869.21. The fact that this week's cost was higher than for the July 11 week is explained partly by the fact that this week has had a larger than usual share of expenses listed as "all other SERA costs not enumerated above."

In other words bills for incidental expenses piled up this week more than they did in the July week. These items this week amounted to $5181.96, while for the July week they were $3898.52.

Work relief costs this week were $28,150.80, while for the July week they were $27,560.45. Mr. Halloran said that persons formerly receiving direct relief have been transferred to work relief projects, accounting for this increase. Direct relief lists have dropped correspondingly from $8548.41 in the July week to $6355.58 for this week.

The Missouri highway department has built 725 miles of new roadway this year.

Word was received here today of the drowning in San Diego of Jerry H. Bee, 7, said to be a resident of Santa Ana. Attempts to learn the names of the child's parents in this city were unsuccessful, however.

According to word received, the boy was found unconscious at the bottom of the children's pool at the Del Mar hotel by an unidentified father. He was rushed to Mercy hospital where resuscitation attempts for several hours proved futile. It was said the boy apparently had run away from his parents, who were on the beach, and probably fell into the pool, which was crowded.

'RIOT' PROVES ONLY 'OUSTING' AT PARTY

Five policemen, fully prepared to do battle if necessary, last night swooped down upon an apartment house at 1110 East Second street in answer to a call to "come and put a stop to a Mexican riot."

When officers arrived at the scene of the "riot," everything was under control. They found that Joe Gevara, who resides in the apartment house, and a friend, Fortino Castro, had been giving a party. Two other Mexicans had attempted to "crash the gate," and Mr. Gevara and his friend were loudly objecting to the intrusion when officers arrived.

The two intruders were advised to have a party of their own, and sent on their way.

POLICE REPORTS

NEW YORK PLANS FORCE OF 'X'-MEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—What the G-men are to the federal government, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia expects his recently conceived "X"-men to be to the city of New York.

It is part of a plan to develop the career system among the city's civil service employees. At present the emphasis is on the police.

The system will give men in the ranks an opportunity to advance into important posts through demonstration of character and ability. Recently, a member of the police force was inducted as a magistrate by LaGuardia.

The "X"-men, according to the mayor's spokesman, will be trained along the lines of the G-men, with laboratory and college courses.

Why "X"-men? In announcing formation of the group, the mayor was stuck, his spokesman said, for a title. He called them "X"-men because "X" means unknown quantity. Later, they will be given a formal name.

COURT BRIEFS

With his second trial on a morals charge scheduled to start yesterday before Judge G. K. Higgins in superior court, George Higgins of San Clemente was granted a continuance until September 10. # SAN CLEMENTE RECALL MOVE DEFINITELY DEAD, MAYOR CLAIMS

SAYS NAMES TAKEN OFF PETITION

No Time For Additional Signers To Support Move, Smith Says

SAN CLEMENTE.—Mayor A. T. Smith announced yesterday that the recall move which had been started here to oust him from office was definitely dead, due to last-minute removal of several names from a petition asking that the city council set the date for a recall election.

Mayor Smith said that members of the better government committee, who have been circulating the petition, would be unable to obtain substitute names before the end of the 15 days allowed by law when a petition has been declared insufficient.

City Clerk William Holmes or other city officials could not be reached for a statement today due to the election day holiday.

Brick Dust

By BRICK GAINES

One of Capistrano's sons, Alfonso Yorba, has again sprung into the limelight through his ability to write of what happened in his pueblo a century ago, this time in "Westways," Automobile Club of Southern California's monthly publication, in an article entitled "Lost Pueblo of the Forties."

Young Mr. Yorba knows whereof he speaks regarding early days in San Juan. He has a very complete library telling of early goings in and around the mission town. What he doesn't know about happenings in the early days is told to him by descendants of the mission Indians.

In his latest published article, Alfonso tells of establishment of "San Juan de Arguello" in 1841, named after Don Santiago Arguello and his family.

At that time over 70 adobe houses graced the large central plaza of the settlement, he points out in his article. Agriculture and stock raising were the principal means of livelihood for the Indians and Californians. He tells of habits of the early residents of the pueblo, their habits of early rising, what they ate for breakfast and how they occupied their days.

He tells how San Juan de Arguello gradually lost its name and reverted to San Juan Capistrano when members of the famous family lost their influence with governmental officials.

Anecdotes of Don Juan Avila, richest man in the pueblo, are told in the article. Further authenticity is added to his writings in the fact that Mr. Yorba now lives in part of the palatial adobe built by that famous resident of the mission town.

In addition to his article, Mr. Yorba obtained several very valuable pictures. One shows the San Juan Capistrano mission as it was in 1876, after part of the main church had been destroyed and ruins were still on the ground around the remaining standing structure. Another shows the courtyard of the Aguilar house, home of the alcaldes of San Juan, while others show early residents of the community.

The descendant of the early pueblo settlers is doing a very valuable service in getting history of his community into print. He's aiding in perpetuating memories which in a few more years would be lost and he's able to do this because he talks his people's language and is so sincere in his desire to retain past memories of the romantic settlement.

Some time when you're in Capistrano, drop in at the mission and see Gwendolyn.

Gwendolyn will probably turn her handsome back unless she's hungry. It's hard to tell just when to make the call, but if you're lucky and happen to drop in about meal time, you're assured of a royal welcome.

Gwendolyn is the mission favorite. She's a wild mallard duck and is property of the church, although to see her, call, you'd think that she owned the whole place.

When she's hungry, there's no stopping the bird. She rushes into the curio room making whatever noises a wild mallard duck makes when she's famished. She has been known to frighten visiting women almost into hysterics, we hear.

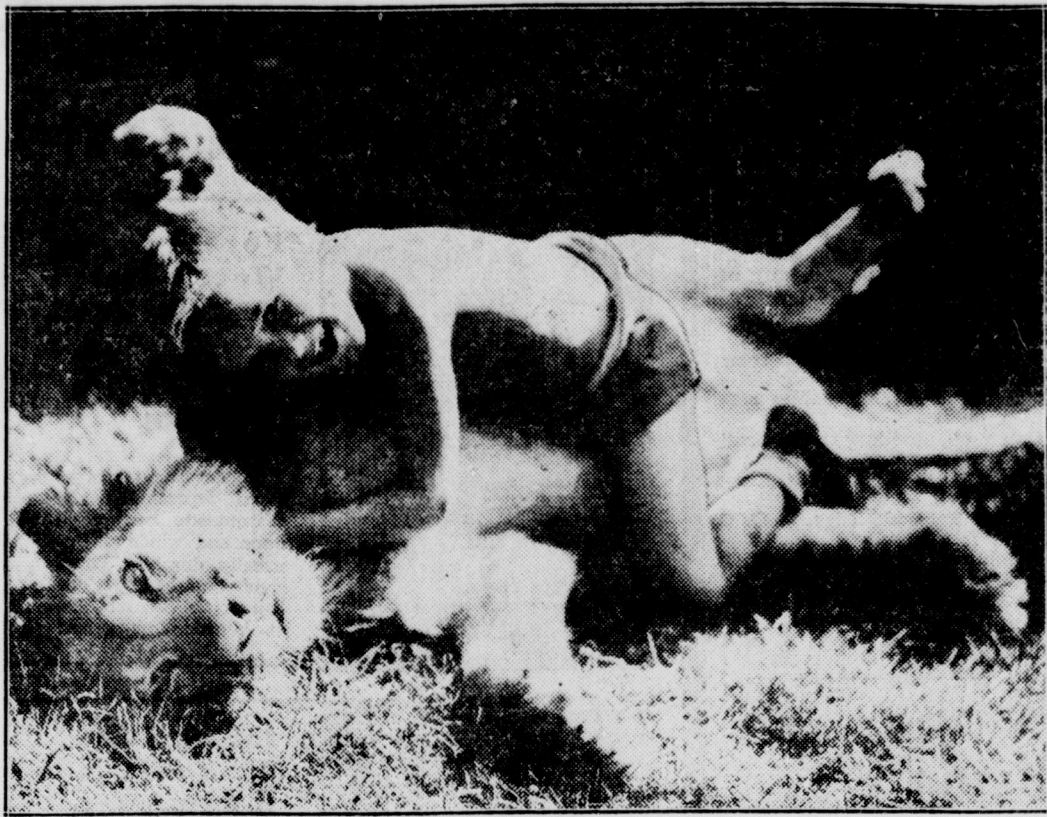

Gwendolyn will follow a friend all over the mission. When called in the right manner, she'll come running, just like any other trained animal.

You'd think that being so fortunate as to escape being changed into somebody's duck dinner would go to Gwendolyn's head, but it hasn't. She's perfectly willing to be friends—if you've something to eat.

In his latest published article, Alfonso Yorba, has again sprung into the limelight through his ability to write of what happened in his pueblo a century ago, this time in "Westways," Automobile Club of Southern California's monthly publication, in an article entitled "Lost Pueblo of the Forties."

Young Mr. Yorba knows whereof he speaks regarding early days in San Juan. He has a very complete library telling of early goings in and around the mission town. What he doesn't know about happenings in the early days is told to him by descendants of the mission Indians.

In his latest published article, Alfonso tells of establishment of "San Juan de Arguello" in 1841, named after Don Santiago Arguello and his family.

At that time over 70 adobe houses graced the large central plaza of the settlement, he points out in his article. Agriculture and stock raising were the principal means of livelihood for the Indians and Californians. He tells of habits of the early residents of the pueblo, their habits of early rising, what they ate for breakfast and how they occupied their days.

He tells how San Juan de Arguello gradually lost its name and reverted to San Juan Capistrano when members of the famous family lost their influence with governmental officials.

Anecdotes of Don Juan Avila, richest man in the pueblo, are told in the article. Further authenticity is added to his writings in the fact that Mr. Yorba now lives in part of the palatial adobe built by that famous resident of the mission town.

In addition to his article, Mr. Yorba obtained several very valuable pictures. One shows the San Juan Capistrano mission as it was in 1876, after part of the main church had been destroyed and ruins were still on the ground around the remaining standing structure. Another shows the courtyard of the Aguilar house, home of the alcaldes of San Juan, while others show early residents of the community.

The descendant of the early pueblo settlers is doing a very valuable service in getting history of his community into print. He's aiding in perpetuating memories which in a few more years would be lost and he's able to do this because he talks his people's language and is so sincere in his desire to retain past memories of the romantic settlement.

Some time when you're in Capistrano, drop in at the mission and see Gwendolyn.

BALBOA BEACH.—Sailing is a mighty expensive sport, sighs Miss Ruth Fulton of San Diego as she sits on a curbing at Balboa and wonders how she will get back home. For yesterday afternoon she rented a snowbird sailboat from the J. B. McNally pier. It was her first, and she says her last, experience at handling a sailboat.

Everything went fine until she attempted to "come-about" in the main channel near Bay Island. She forgot to release the sail and the boat overturned, depositing her in the water.

In the excitement she dropped her purse which contained $25 in cash, a gold cigarette case valued at $100, the keys to her car, a $10 ticket to the San Diego exposition, and her driver's license. She is offering a reward of $10 to the diver who will retrieve the purse from the 25-foot depth.

Elks Revive City League Title Hopes, Score 6-5 Upset Over 20-30's

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

Bill Hoolahan, reformed boxer who is now a writer, is a prestige, wants you and the rest of the world to know that he is no longer tied up with Dr. Ralph Wagner, Hollywood playboy and Saugus, Calif., millionaire.

Time was when Hoolahan sprouted under the wing of the semi-sportsman. But that was when Jerry the Greek Luvadis, whom you will remember as Jack Dempsey's trainer, was attempting to make a boxer out of him. Since that time both Dr. Wagner—who got a degree in philosophy in exchange for a check from some middle western university—and Jerry the Greek—double crossed him, Hoolahan says.

His boxing career on the coast had but one chapter—we told you of that when Hoolahan first wrestled here.

Now the earnest young Irishman—we talked to him in the dressing room after his bout with Nick Lutze last night—is accountable to no one except a wife and a son. For them he trains like a troupier and aspires to great things in wrestling.

And he likes it a good deal better than being the pampered protégé of a millionaire. Bill has a mind of his own and likes to use it. If you ever get a chance to talk to him you'll find that out for yourself.

REAL CITY LEAGUE ALL STAR TEAM DUE

Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, who, among other things is head of the city softball league, wants it known that he had nothing to do with a recently hand-picked "all-star" city league team. Like many others he feels the selections did not result in a team representative of the loop's best talent. To remedy this he and other club officials will select a real all-star squad soon for The Journal.

Tom Moore, official scorer of the loop, also disclaims any connection with the mythical team. He will help Morrison pick the squad.

Somebody should eulogize the city league officials for keeping the fire of enthusiasm running throughout a dandy season. We may be crucified by other fans for it, but we like the spirit and camaraderie of the strictly amateur municipal mob better than that of the bigger loops.

STARS MAY ACHIEVE SUCCESS WITH REBOIN

With Al Reboin, their new heavy-hitting member ready to start to work, the Stars may find the greatly-needed spark that will set them off toward that beleaguered championship. . . . A few good smacks in the pinches will do wonders for the gang.

We'd like to know the inside of the deal that sent Reboin to the locals from Olive in exchange for Leavitt Daley. . . . not long ago Manager Ben Gelker of Olive and Olive fans were virtually at the throat of everything that was Santa Ana. . . . first comes the trade and then the announcement that the Star Olive game for tonight would be shifted to the local diamond. . . . that was fresh on the heels of Olive's squawk about a 40 per cent cut for the local squad. . . . Gelker says everything has been smoothed over and all of us are glad. . . . Daley, unable to get a local job after just losing one, probably made connections in Olive.

CITY LEAGUE GAMES DRAWING WELL

These City league championship games are attracting a fair-sized flock of nightfall fans, including a few players and officials from the faster National and County leagues.

Among those turning out to see the 20-30's and Elks the other night were George Lackaye, Westminster's hustling manager of the National league; Vic Walker, secretary-treasurer of the County league; "Doc" Smith, George Preble and Merle Urbine of Santa Ana's Stars; and Olive's small but potent Bruce Harnois.

Fans thus far have been disappointed in the Elks' lack of a better performance from the B. P. O. E. and had a right to expect it because of the Elks' strong showing during both halves of the regular schedule.

NINE FOULS WIN GAME

FOUL BALLS ordinarily are a symbol of uselessness in baseball, but the Giants figure one stretch of nine consecutive foul balls won them a critical game from the Cards. Catcher Harry Danning clicked 'em off against Paul Dean, firing Daffy so that he eventually threw up a criddle which Harry lashed for two bases breaking up the game.

FOUR RUNS IN FIRST BOOST LODGE NINE

Fourth Title Contest Billed For Thursday Night At Bowl

SANTA ANA CITY LEAGUE (Championship Series)

20-30 Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Elks Club	2	1	.666
	1	2	.333

Still nothing to write home about, the pennant hopes of Santa Ana's Elks nevertheless were somewhat revived today by the 6-5 decision they took from the 20-30's in the third game of the City Night Ball league play-offs last night.

The split-season champions meet for the fourth time at the Municipal bowl Thursday. A fifth game, if necessary, will be played Monday.

Fred "Porky" Bell of the Elks met one of Joe Cornelius' fast ones with his big brown bat and lifted it clear over the aisle in the leftfield stands for a home run with Len Stafford ahead of him in the first. The Negro outfielder's drive, one of the longest of the season, landed in the fourteenth row of the bleachers, and topped a four-run rally that was just like sand in the oatmeal of the 20-30's.

The Elks' spurge came with two out in the opening frame. Bob Schwarm, the league's premier hitter who continued to lead the series with four for five, started it with a single to left, and Wayne Garlock lifted a double over short to send Schwarm to third. Stafford almost knocked Cornelius down with a blistering liner to the pitcher's box. Schwarm scoring while the ball glanced toward the sidelines between third and home. Cornelius dashed after the ball, and while attempting to catch Stafford at first, he allowed Garlock to slip home, too. Bell's terrific homer followed.

Four successive singles accounted for only one run for the 20-30's in their part of the first. Howard Melvain drove out the first of his three bingles of the evening. Sammy Francis likewise singled. Cornelius beat out a slow roller to short, but Garlock threw to third to catch Melvain off the bag. Darwin Scott hit into the double play, and Cornelius was occupying it. Cornelius was called out on a forced play.

Catcher Jack Scott's Texas leaguer and Ken Miller's error in rightfield scored Mickey Walker, who had walked, for the Service-men's second run in the fourth. Francis walked, reached third on an error and Darwin Scott's fly to center, and scored on Johnny Lutz' fly to deep short in the fifth. Bell walked, went to second on a wild pitch, stole third and scored on Catcher Scott's error for the Elks in the sixth.

Trailing 5-3 in the eighth, with Walker on third and Mitchell on second, Catcher Scott smashed a single between first and second for a pair of runs that tied the score. The 20-30's, however, went down 1-2-3 in the first of the ninth, and the Elks came to bat for their winning run. Dave Styling beat out a grounder to third after Miller had fanned.

Lutz' leveller popped up to short but placed Styling on second. Garlock smacked a fly which Lutz muffed on the run from centerfield, and Styling crossed the log for the pay-off.

Ellwood Lindley struck out to Cornelius' 10. Elks were touched freely. Lindley yielding 11 hits to Cornelius' 13. Lindley walked 5, Cornelius 4. . . . Lindwood may receive the call again Thursday in place of Armand Hanson, slender southpaw who lost the first two games, 10-9 and 5-4, on errors from his teammates. The Elks played better defensive ball last night.

Szabo's Unique Splits Hold Licks Jonathan Lutze Downs Hoolahan in Mat Fight

Bearded Bishop Tangles Self And Referee In Rope To End Bout

By FRANK ROGERS

It may not have been the best wrestling show in the local history of the game, but no one can say it didn't have the most unique finish of any program most of us have seen.

Sandor Szabo, the Hustlin' Hungarian, defeated Bearded Brother Jonathan in the second of two feature bouts by an excruciatingly funny process that went about like this: Jonathan, tossed out of the ring in rightful retribution, was hurrying back to do some more eye-gouging on Szabo. In making his way over the ropes one foot got wedged between the top rope and the middle strand. It held him securely and all the feverish efforts of Referee Dick Rutherford to free him were frustrated for some time.

Szabo Opportunist
Szabo, an excellent opportunist, seized Jonathan's free foot and did his best to split the Mormon bishop from stem to stern. Finally freeing Jonathan's foot, Referee Rutherford caught his own foot in exactly the same manner. Szabo's splits punishment had weakened Jonathan and the Hungarian body-pressed him for a quick fall while Rutherford squirmed and shouted. He edged out of his predicament just in time to declare Szabo the winner.

The barrel-chested Hungarian took the first fall from Jonathan with a series of rabbit punches and a body press after the bishop had started his eye-gouging tactics. Signal for Szabo to get started came when Jonathan threw him into the press room.

Wild Bill Hoolahan's famed Faga Balah flip (Irish for "clear the way") backfired in his battle with Nick Lutze, Venice lifeguard. Twice, three times the Boston grappler tried his unique hold on the rugged Lutze. First two times he barely missed pinning the feat in mid-completion and Hoolahan's shoulders were pinned. The time was 17 min. 29 sec.

Kudo Winner
Kiman Kudo, the 170-pound Japanese, lost a chance to beat up on Juan Umberto when the referee halted their torrid battle after Umberto, usually the crowd's hero, turned villain. Frustrated by Kudo's Oriental mystery, and angered by the little fellow's neat trick of tripping him and flopping him to the floor, the Argentine hand, his 17 strike-outs ruining the few scoring chances that came Fullerton's way, Al Colman moved down eight of Olive's men.

Huntington Beach hammered San Juan Capistrano's young hurlers, Art Daneri and Reg Nieblas, for 10 hits and an easy 12-3 verdict at Capistrano, while "Lefty" Lesser fanned 12 and issued only six hits. Urban Peltzer, deceptive No. 1 finger for the Oilers, was given a rest for the important tussle with Placentia on the beach field Thursday night.

Irvine may protest Placentia's 4-3 victory in 12 innings at Placentia on the grounds that the umpire was a relation of the Jones brothers of Placentia, and that Doug Wheeler, first baseman, employed spikes, which is contrary to league regulations. McElheny, Miller Stevens, Evans and Layne belted home runs while Brea murdered Garden Grove, 18-1, at Brea.

Colton's Reds, champions of the first half, are stationed one game back of Pomona's second-half leaders, as the American Night Ball league's six teams swing into their final round of play on three fronts tonight.

Riverside, tied for third place with Covina, is reported to be seeking the services of Rudy Heman of Olive's Class A team and Bill Sweet, first-sacker of the Olive Bees. Heman has not done so well for the Grenadiers this year, but as a member of the House of Davi, nine he has been a sensation. Recently he fanned 24 and 21 against San Diego and Bakersfield, respectively.

POMONA HEADS INLANDERS

SLAPSIE MAXIE LOSES AGAIN

OAKLAND, Aug. 13. (AP)—Hank Hankinson could thank a flashy ninth round today for two verdicts in recent weeks over Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom.

The Ohio giant was awarded his second ten-round decision in the ring here last night to the resounding boos of a crowd of 7000 who thought the former light-heavyweight champion had the edge.

Wightman Cup Outfit To Make Good Battle Of Tournament

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—The feeling at Forest Hills where the British and American Wightman Cup teams are practicing for their matches on Friday and Saturday is that the British are going to make a real fight this year.

Helen Jacobs, America's No. 1 player and three times national champion, was of the opinion that the chances were 50-50 that the United States would turn back the invaders.

"They are really good this time," she said.

On the other hand, Dorothy Round, the English star, refused to admit England had no hopes. She parried questions with: "It doesn't do to discuss chances before a match. It might bring bad luck."

"You're hopeful, then?" she was asked.

"Hopeful? Oh, yes," she answered.

The British team will present a lineup taken entirely from its first ten—Miss Round, No. 1; Katherine Stammers, No. 3; Mrs. Phyllis Mudford King, No. 4; Freda James, No. 5; Nancy Lyle, No. 6, and Evelyn Dearman, No. 10.

Reboin will not be used by Santa Ana until the Westminster game Friday night, at the request of the Olive management, which hopes to even its six-game series with the Stars.

Santa Ana can clinch the series with a victory, but a set back will deaden the rivals all three all. Olive holds a pair of 4-3 victories over the Stars, while Santa Ana has defeated the Grenadiers 8-1, 2-1 and 12-2.

Ousted from his first-base post by Merle Urbine, the ex-Westminster southpaw who will break in as a regular tonight, Preble will be shifted to his old position at second, and Smith will go to short, replacing Tom Lacy. Francis Contrad, regular shortstop, has not fully recovered from a shoulder injury, and Manager Tom Denney figures the Preble-Smith combination is stronger than the team of Lacy and Smith.

The Stars employed this makeshift combination for a few innings with success at Anaheim the other night. Manager Denney, Rod Ballard and Leavitt Daley will be in their regular outfield positions, but this combination, too, may be broken when Reboin goes into the lineup Friday.

Westminster's Art Arroya, classy 138-pound stylist, takes on San Bernardino's Wild Bill Matthis in one of two main events at the Orange County Athletic club boxing show Thursday night. Promoter Sam Sampson and Matchmaker Doc Steffler announced today.

Bringing the card to a nine-bout total, the state athletic commission has ordered Bud Holzhauser, stormy petrel and most sought-after of Southland amateurs, to fight Fullerton's Young Le Mon as an added attraction to the show. Holzhauser, with 16 knockouts and 21 victories, walked out on the show last week, but is definitely slated to appear against the Orange county light-heavyweight threat this time.

Fighting Al Garcia, Huntington Park Mexican who won over Arroya here two weeks ago in a great duel, meets San Bernardino's Larry Ledford in another 138-pound, four-round top bout.

In the semi-windup are Rudy Guevara, Huntington Park and Benny Gomez, Los Alamitos, 160 pounds. Guevara polished off Tino Munzo here recently.

Other bouts: Frank Borago, Garden Grove, vs. Willie Walker, San Bernardino, 155; Babe Rozales, Placentia, vs. Young Estrada, San Bernardino; Lynn Pitcher, Huntington Park, vs. Kid Patcho, Los Alamitos, 135; Jimmy Merced, Placentia, vs. Frank Richards, colored, San Bernardino, 128; and Manuel Lujan, Los Alamitos, vs. Frankie Garcia.

The Journal had credited Schwarm with a .524 average, but this slight variation was due to a mistake by a scorer who aided official Moore early in the season.

ACQUITTAL OF PAIR AGAIN DENIED

For the second time since the start of the trial of Edward Tabor and Jess Sibley, charged with conspiracy and arson, Mark L. Herron, chief defense counsel, yesterday was defeated in attempt to win an instructed verdict exonerating the men. More than a week ago, when the prosecution completed its case, Mr. Herron's motion for an instructed verdict in the case being tried in superior court was denied by Presiding Judge James L. Allen. A similar motion offered yesterday at the completion of the defense testimony was turned down.

Tabor and Sibley are being tried in connection with a fire in 1932 which destroyed a Huntington Beach apartment house owned by Tabor.

Mr. Herron based his motion yesterday on the charge that with testimony of the alleged accomplices, John Rose and Henry Eli, excluded from consideration, there was nothing to show any connection of Tabor and Sibley with the crime.

Defense Wins Point

Refused an instructed verdict, Mr. Herron on one point when the court ordered all testimony of Dr. George Parrish, Los Angeles health officer, regarding a contract he signed whereby he received royalties for sales of an automatic sewer flusher manufactured by a company headed by Tabor, stricken from the records. The motion to strike was granted by the defense contention that District Attorney S. B. Kaufman had failed to show that, because of the contract, Dr. Parrish had any interest in clearing Tabor of the charges.

When court adjourned until 10 a. m. Wednesday, Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner was delivering the opening argument to the jury. Both prosecution and defense have been granted unlimited time for arguments and indications are that the jury pleas will not be completed for at least two days.

Implicated By Convicts

Tabor and Sibley were arrested following a statement made from San Quentin prison by John Rose, who was serving a prison sentence for his share of the burning, which implicated the pair, and which was substantiated by testimony of Henry Eli, also in prison because of his part in the fire.

The defense of Tabor and Sibley centered around charges that Rose had implicated them when attempts to blackmail Tabor had failed. Tabor admitted, however, that he had employed a defense attorney for Rose at the time he was on trial in 1932.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS TWO GROUP ACTIVITIES

This week holds two section activities for the Santa Ana Woman's club, the first being the philanthropy section's benefit 12:30 o'clock dessert bridge and games party today at the home of Mrs. J. A. King, 223 South Bristol street.

Wednesday, the arts and crafts section will meet for a covered-dish luncheon and work session at the home of Mrs. E. A. Elwell, 909 East Bishop street.

THE CHANGING EARS
By Mary Graham Bonner

"My ears are beautiful," cried Willy Nilly. "This is wonderful." "Pleased, eh?" asked the magician. He was quite tall with rather long dark hair, bushy eyebrows and a wide mouth that was constantly smiling.

His hands were moving so much at the time that Mrs. Quacko Duck and Christopher Columbus Crow could not follow what his long fingers were doing. In fact, his hands moved so much more quickly than their eyes could see.

Changes Ears

"Do look, Mrs. Quacko Duck. Do look, Christopher Columbus Crow," said Willy Nilly as he turned from the mirror to show his beautiful new, changed ears to the duck and crow who had come with him to the magician's house.

"Yes, I'm looking," quacked Mrs. Duck.

"I'm looking at you, too," cried Christopher.

"But why aren't you more excited? Why do you take it so calmly? Why don't you say something about my little nice ears?" asked Willy Nilly.

Very Silent

Mrs. Quacko Duck and Christopher were absolutely silent.

"I don't understand you two," complained Willy Nilly. "You come over here with me to see about my ears, and then when I show you a quickly improved pair you are speechless."

Mrs. Quacko Duck and Christopher still did not speak.

"Well, how do you like them?" Willy Nilly asked.

"I don't see any difference in them," quacked Mrs. Quacko, and Christopher cawed the same.

HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT!

Santa Ana Does Own Labor

"This is the house that Jack built,"

About Christmas time, Mrs. Jack Makely will be able to stand outside her trim white two-story home on Newport boulevard and say that to her friends.

In his spare time Mr. Makely is building the house board by board and nail by nail, even to the lighting and plumbing.

Decorated day, the Santa Ana celebrated by burning off the tall weeds on his one-acre lot. Then he laid a foundation for the house.

Started by the sight of a little girl's dresser topped by several chubbies dolls, and rows of dresses hanging in a second-story bedroom without any walls, many a passing motorist has stopped recently to investigate the steadily growing house, into which the Makely family moved from Santa Ana when the first-story walls were only half-way up to the ceiling.

A strong cool wind blows almost continually through the window-holes in Jack's house, and the family, including his wife and their children, Mildred, Russell and Rosamond, "sleep out" in their own bedrooms.

Already, Mrs. Makely has row up row of neatly labeled preserves on shelves in her kitchen. This winter, she'll cook on a wood stove, until they get around to having gas. They'll have a big fireplace, too, and their living room is to be done with rough beamed ceilings and stained wood-toned walls.

A garden, trees and an outdoor barbecue grill are being started on the acre lot by Mr. Makely, who after crawling down from his steep-eaved roof to stand with a paintbrush in one hand and chat a moment, said, "The house will cost less than half what it would to have it made. I enjoy building it. I suppose other folks could do it, too, if they'd take the time and trouble."

FUNERAL TODAY FOR MRS. HAUCK

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a. m. today at the Winfield mortuary for Mrs. Gordon M. Hauck of 1108 Kilson drive, who died Sunday at her home following a year's illness. The Rev. John F. Stivers, pastor of the Orange Avenue Christian church, officiated, and Mrs. B. E. Skiles sang. Burial followed in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Hauck was 40 when she died. She had lived in Santa Ana for the past 15 years and was widely known through her long association with the Guard Pharmacy on South Main street. She had been bedridden for the past year, however.

She is survived by her husband, Gordon M.; daughter, Reta May Hauck of Santa; son, Wesley N. Hauck of Santa Ana; sister, Mrs. Grace Neiderkorn of Milwaukee, Wis., who had visited with her this past winter; and brother, George Nelson, of Rocky Ford, Colo.

Meteor Shaped Like Turkey Egg Just Misses Farmer

DALE, Colo., Aug. 13. (AP)—A meteor whizzed over the head of Tom Everett, farmhand, narrowly missing him while he was hoeing beans.

Everett said he heard a loud whizz and looked up and saw a cloud of dust.

Then he heard a thud and several yards away found a molder mass so hot he had to let it cool before he could pick it up. It weighed one-half pound and was the shape of a turkey egg.

Already, Mrs. Makely has row up row of neatly labeled preserves on shelves in her kitchen. This winter, she'll cook on a wood stove, until they get around to having gas. They'll have a big fireplace, too, and their living room is to be done with rough beamed ceilings and stained wood-toned walls.

A garden, trees and an outdoor barbecue grill are being started on the acre lot by Mr. Makely, who after crawling down from his steep-eaved roof to stand with a paintbrush in one hand and chat a moment, said, "The house will cost less than half what it would to have it made. I enjoy building it. I suppose other folks could do it, too, if they'd take the time and trouble."

'RACKET' DRIVE WINS BACKING

Santa Ana merchants are getting behind the drive to block the city against outside promoters, in a big way, it was indicated today.

Howard I. Wood, chamber of commerce secretary, has received 73 pledges from local business houses that they will not consider schemes advanced by foreign spotters, unless they have been able to pass the rigid scrutiny of the chamber.

A similar number of pledges have been received by the Business Men's association, said Phil Brown, manager.

These organizations estimate that thousands of dollars will be saved annually if such outside schemes and "rackets" are prevented from operating here. The chamber and the business men's organizations have sent out letters to all their members asking that they agree to patronize only such propositions as are endorsed by the two organizations.

Letters, telephone calls and personal visits are evidencing a hearty approval for the drive, Mr. Wood said today.

JEROME GOES TO SAN FRANCISCO FOR WELFARE PARLEY

Supervisor W. C. Jerome left Santa Ana today for San Francisco where he has been called to attend a conference of the welfare committee of the state supervisors' association.

The meeting was called by T. E. Caldecott, chairman of the committee, for the purpose of conferring with business leaders throughout the state on the situation created through a shift in the federal relief program.

The shift to Works Progress administration, it is said, has resulted in returning thousands of workers back as county charges as so-called unemployables.

DELAYED IN TRANSIT

SEATTLE, Wash.—Eight years ago B. F. Lawrence and his family left interior China. They left belongings in a trunk billed to follow them to Seattle.

The trunk has just arrived, its contents intact.

A strong cool wind blows almost continually through the window-holes in Jack's house, and the family, including his wife and their children, Mildred, Russell and Rosamond, "sleep out" in their own bedrooms.

WATER IMPORT REPORT DUE

Possibility of the South Coast Water district continuing to use water exported from the Orange County Water district will be studied at tomorrow's meeting of the board of directors of the latter district. A. W. Rutan, the board's legal advisor, and Col. M. B. Wellington, attorney for the south coast district, are scheduled to report on the results of an investigation of the problem.

The south coast district, including 520 acres south of Laguna Beach, is practically all outside the county district. Laguna Beach, which is in the county district, has been allowing its neighbor to use part of its water allotment. Whether any method can be worked out to allow a continuance of this practice is to be the problem for discussion at Wednesday's board meeting in the Garden Grove chamber of commerce.

The board of directors do not wish to establish any precedent which might make it difficult to refuse later requests of the same sort, it is understood. Some time ago it notified the South Coast district and Laguna Beach that it could not continue to countenance the export, but no action has been taken.

The South Coast district included about 70 acres that are within the county district. It wishes to use its allotment to this area for the entire district. It also is contemplating securing its own supply from San Juan or Trabuco creeks within the next five years.

The meeting was called by T. E. Caldecott, chairman of the committee, for the purpose of conferring with business leaders throughout the state on the situation created through a shift in the federal relief program.

The shift to Works Progress administration, it is said, has resulted in returning thousands of workers back as county charges as so-called unemployables.

Decorated day, the Santa Ana celebrated by burning off the tall weeds on his one-acre lot. Then he laid a foundation for the house.

Started by the sight of a little girl's dresser topped by several chubbies dolls, and rows of dresses hanging in a second-story bedroom without any walls, many a passing motorist has stopped recently to investigate the steadily growing house, into which the Makely family moved from Santa Ana when the first-story walls were only half-way up to the ceiling.

A strong cool wind blows almost continually through the window-holes in Jack's house, and the family, including his wife and their children, Mildred, Russell and Rosamond, "sleep out" in their own bedrooms.

How Your U.S. Pension Will Figure Under Security Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Below is a table showing what an individual could expect in the way of old-age benefits under the social security bill, assuming an average monthly salary over a specified number of years.

No portion of an income over $250 a month would be subject to the new old-age benefit taxes, and the maximum monthly benefit, therefore, is $85.

COUNTY HAS 48,137 MOTOR VEHICLES; GAS TAX SHARE $64,483

REGISTRATION IS GREATEST SINCE 1929

Money Will Be Used For Highway Construction And Maintenance

Orange county has 48,137 registered motor vehicles, according to a report just released by Ray Ingels, state director of motor vehicles, and has been apportioned $64,483.75 as the county's share of gasoline tax and license fees. The apportionment is made on the basis of registration and will be used for highway construction and repair.

Of the total number of motor vehicles registered from this city there are 42,464 automobiles, 2921 pneumatic trucks, 26 solid tire trucks, 214 motorcycles, 2100 pneumatic tired trailers and 412 solid tired trailers.

With motor vehicle registration from January 1 to June 30 the heaviest since 1929, Orange county, like every other county in the state showed a gain. There was a state-wide increase of 113,464 registrations over the first six months in 1934.

The total motor vehicle registration in the state for the first six months, says the report, was 2,077,350 and brought in $5,565,584.54 to be used for highway construction and repair. Half of the fund, or $2,782,793.17, was divided among the 58 counties on the basis of registration, and the other half was turned over to the division of highways for use on state roads.

The increased apportionment, according to Mr. Ingels, means that labor will receive the greatest benefits because of the general advance in road programs through the additional funds.

FULLERTON LICENSE LAW UPHeld BY DECISION HERE

Fullerton's licensing ordinance was held valid as a revenue measure yesterday in a decision by Judge G. K. Scovel, department 3, superior court, ordering George Gohar, attorney, to pay his city business license. Mr. Gohar had refused payment and defended the action brought by the city on the grounds that a professional man is not subject to the licensing and regulation of a city license law.

The city had sued to collect $33.33 allegedly due in license fees and penalties since December, 1932. The court, however, ordered Mr. Gohar to pay the fee of $16 for the year dating from July 1934, to July 1935, and an additional $8 for a six-month period dating from last July.

California Highway Patrolman Ernest Sawyer was awarded judgment for $997 against Louis Yachek of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, yesterday by Judge G. K. Scovel in superior court. Officer Sawyer had sued for the amount of the judgment following a highway collision when the automobile, driven by Mrs. Yachek, struck the motorcycle on which Mr. Sawyer was riding.

Greek Theater in Anaheim City Park Produces Variety Of Programs for Townfolk

(This is the seventh of a series of articles having to do with the establishment and development of the Anaheim city park, one of the outstanding cultural and recreational institutions of Southern California. The series is intended to be informative to those cities which do not enjoy park facilities. Santa Ana is listed in the latter classification.)

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Anaheim's Greek theater in its city park has brought to residents of that community a variety of entertainment designed to appeal to almost every taste. The open air theater, the only one of its kind in the county, is expected to be packed on Thursday night when a variety and minstrel show will be on tap.

Band and orchestra concerts, stage plays and vaudeville have been the menu for Anaheim citizens this summer, produced through cooperation of the city recreation department and the S.E.R.A.

In addition the theater is used four times a week for music classes. Union church services, graduation exercises and public meetings of a non-political nature also are held in the theater, which has an unusual setting in the park. Thousands of persons, in fact 9700, have attended entertainments there since June 28.

Cost Is Slight

For the plays and vaudeville the casts supplied by the S.E.R.A. erect their own stage settings, provide their own costumes and sound equipment. Residents of Anaheim are provided with entertainment and the cost to the city is $25 per night for the vaudeville or dramatic productions and $10 for band or orchestra concerts.

Arrangements for the affairs are made by Coach Richard Glover of the high school, in charge of the recreation program, and Rudolph Boyesen, park superintendent. The musical programs are so selected as to provide numbers which appeal to all tastes. The vaudeville and stage plays are designed to appeal to as wide a variety as possible. The program of weekly entertainments will continue until August 22. W. W. Wieman, in charge of a federal educational program for the county, has assisted in making the project possible. The actors, as well as the musicians, are largely professional entertainers.

Erected Eight Years Ago

The theater was erected eight years ago, at a cost of $49,622. Equipment has cost $2966.49. The annual report of the city auditor on April 30 showed that during the preceding 12 months more than 12 services, entertainments or meetings were held in the theater, amplified by sound equipment. In addition to these, there have been three band or orchestra concerts, two plays and four vaudeville presentations this summer.

The public has received this summer's program enthusiastically, according to Mr. Glover. The theater has been filled on vaudeville and play nights, while on band concert and orchestra performance occasions audiences of approximately 1500 have been in attendance. The theater seats 2900 persons.

The theater rounds out a varied list of recreational facilities in Anaheim's park, which offer an appeal to almost every type of person, helping to make the park an outstanding point of interest not only in the city but in the county.

Troubles Come Double; Driver Faces 2 Charges

It wasn't enough to be arrested for drunk driving after he had allegedly nearly run over Motorcycle Officer George Boyd.

Roy Johnson, 24, of Irvine Park, was in the county jail on a drunk driving charge when officers found in his car the carcass of a deer killed out of season. When Johnson was arrested his automobile was taken to the Platt Auto service for safekeeping. A strong odor emanating from the rumble seat brought an investigation.

Coroner Frank Abbey gingerly unwrapped a burlap-covered bundle and found the deer. Game Warden Leslie Hare said charges of shooting deer out of season will be placed against Johnson.

SHORTAGE OF SERA FUNDS DISCLOSED

Even a book overdraft doesn't look very good to the county committee of the State Emergency Relief administration.

The committee has requested transfer of $20,000 by the board of supervisors, from the county's share of the state unemployment relief bonds. Last Tuesday the supervisors deferred action for a further study of the situation.

Today the committee showed evidence that it would like to know whether the SERA is going to get the money. The matter will be taken up with the supervisors again tomorrow.

The SERA has commitments of $15,361.34 and a cash balance of $9,449.06, a report by Terrence Halloran, administrator, showed today. This leaves a shortage of $5,912.28 on the records, shown as a book overdraft.

However, Mr. Halloran explained, all but $1,531.88 of the commitments are more or less tentative in that the expenditures will not be made unless authorized by vouchers. The vouchers will not be approved unless the money becomes available. Assuming that these tentative commitments are not finally approved, $13,829.46 of the commitments will be available to meet the book overdraft.

And if the supervisors transfer the $20,000 as requested, everything will be all right again. The balance in the bond fund, subject to allocation, is $47,566.75. Mr. Halloran's report showed.

The commitments include $1,531.88 for direct relief payments actually made, $1,332.61 on rental contracts not yet finally approved, $1,919.05 for a sewing project, not yet finally approved, $10,071.15 for the Santiago, not yet finally approved and $506.65 for merchandise and medical care, not yet finally approved. These sums make up the $15,361.34 of commitments. There is a cash balance of $9,449.06 which, subtracted from the $15,361.34, leaves the book overdraft of $5,912.28.

Troubles Come Double; Driver Faces 2 Charges

It wasn't enough to be arrested for drunk driving after he had allegedly nearly run over Motorcycle Officer George Boyd.

Roy Johnson, 24, of Irvine Park, was in the county jail on a drunk driving charge when officers found in his car the carcass of a deer killed out of season. When Johnson was arrested his automobile was taken to the Platt Auto service for safekeeping. A strong odor emanating from the rumble seat brought an investigation.

Coroner Frank Abbey gingerly unwrapped a burlap-covered bundle and found the deer. Game Warden Leslie Hare said charges of shooting deer out of season will be placed against Johnson.

FREEZE TEST MAN THAWS OVER PLAN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13. (P)—Gathering threats of legal intervention today apparently served to melt some of Stephen Simkhovitch's determination to be frozen stiff in an ice box as an experiment in science.

"I will do nothing illegal," the 34-year-old screen writer said, "and if the law declares the proposed experiment in that category, I will withdraw."

Simkhovitch last week signed a contract with Dr. Ralph Willard, Hollywood research chemist, to court death by refrigeration in an effort to prove Willard's contention that certain diseases can be eliminated by freezing and that a human being can be revived after the icing process.

Use Monkey Again

Dr. Willard announced he planned to attempt his third rejuvenation experiment tomorrow, in which a monkey plays the living "icicle" role.

The animal, Dr. Willard said, was placed in an ice chest last week. A companion simian subject, he declared, was successfully revived after a short stay in refrigeration, and a third monkey, a female died during the test.

It was after his experiments with monkeys, dogs and rabbits that Willard and Simkhovitch entered their eerie pact.

Mother Protests

The writer's mother, Mrs. Mary Simkhovitch, New York social worker, urged her son in a long-distance telephone call yesterday to abandon his plans but Simkhovitch said his mother's pleas were unavailing.

Dr. George Parrish, Los Angeles health officer, said he advised the mother every attempt would be made to halt the proposed experiment. He said he thought the district attorney had jurisdiction in the matter, although that office has not expressed itself, as yet.

MEDICAL LEADERS SAY IT CAN'T BE DONE

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (P)—Two leaders in medical science stood today on the assertion that Ralph S. Willard of Los Angeles can no more freeze Stephen Simkhovitch to death and revive him, than he can reassemble a scrambled egg.

Dr. Jago Galston, secretary of the New York Academy of Medicine, author of the daily newspaper feature "Feeling Well Today?", said that when the 80 per cent of body tissue which is water is frozen, protoplasmic disrupts and can't be restored.

Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the American Medical Journal, said Willard's monkey freezing was "probably achieved by a neat trick of substitution was in the county jail on a drunk driving charge when officers found in his car the carcass of a deer killed out of season. When Johnson was arrested his automobile was taken to the Platt Auto service for safekeeping. A strong odor emanating from the rumble seat brought an investigation.

STATE NEARS DEFICIT OF 79 MILLION

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13. (P)—A shortage of $79,000,000 in state funds by June 30, 1937, was estimated today by State Controller Ray L. Riley, who fixed the existing deficit at $22,000,000.

The deficit combined with the spending program enacted by the 1935 legislature will total $316,000,000 by the end of the 1935-37 biennium, Riley said, and he anticipated revenues at only $230,000,000 leaving a shortage of $86,000,000.

Vote Can Cut 4 Million

Four million dollars would be cut off this figure if the bond issue for state institutions is voted today, thereby eliminating an appropriation set aside in the budget, and $3,000,000 more would be saved, said Riley, if congress decided to help the states in an old age pension program.

Riley computed new revenues provided by the legislature at $98,000,000. These funds are expected to be raised by the increased sales tax, the new income, and automobile property taxes, and the increased bank-corporation net profits tax.

Divides Budget

He divided the budget expenditures as $85,000,000 for state operating expenses, $183,000,000 for fixed charges, such as school support, and $26,000,000 in special appropriations, $24,000,000 of which is for unemployment relief. He did not include about $120,000,000 raised in special funds outside general revenues.

which any competent magician could perform."

JOBLESS MAN IS RECRUIT FOR TEST

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 13. (P)—D. O. Trout, 38, jobless head of a family, wants to be a "human icicle" for Dr. Ralph S. Willard, California chemist, who claims to have successfully revived a frozen monkey.

Trout said he would be glad to take the place of Stephen Simkhovitch, another volunteer for the role. Trout has a wife and two children.

"I have been out of work for years and want a job," Trout said.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

What changes in your menus and household routine do you make to keep your home pleasant during hot weather?

Mrs. Fara M. Burns: I try to serve lots of appetizing salads, and less hot meats than in winter. weather. Keeping the home attractive and pleasant helps offset the hot weather, too, I think.

Mrs. J. E. Kellogg: We have more fresh tomatoes, cucumbers and green salads in the summer. Our home is two-story, and by shutting the windows upstairs early in the day and not opening them until evening, we keep it cool and pleasant downstairs.

Mrs. J. C. Kirby: There are only two of us, so we don't plan special menus. We have less meat in the summer than in winter. The trees around our home make it cooler. I think it's worthwhile to plant trees around a house for the shade.

Mrs. L. G. Jump: I serve more cool dishes, but just as much meat as in the winter. We keep our home cool by using an electric fan—it seems to be the best way.

PLAY PLANNED FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT PLAY AT PARTY

Santa Ana Girls Ebell will assist with the serving duties. Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. C. V. Davis are assisting Mrs. A. G. Flagg with tickets and reservations.

Patsy Miller and Lila Lee of screen fame are co-starred in the play, which concerns marriage and divorce among modern Muscovites.

Affair Given In Gerrard Gardens

Complimenting Mrs. Roger Williams of Ames, Ia., sister and houseguest of Mrs. C. J. Skirvin, a garden luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. A. W. Gerrard and Mrs. W. S. Buchanan at the Gerrard home, 2422 Heliotrope.

The co-hostesses planned the affair as a return courtesy to the Needlework club at which they have been frequent guests. Yellow and green pottery was used to set the table and a bowl of marigolds in a green bowl centered the decorations. Over the table, yellow and green umbrellas shaded the luncheon guests. Taking the color scheme for its motif, the luncheon menu was carried out in yellow and green also. Other guests at the luncheon were Mesdames C. F. Skirvin, W. B. Williams, Fleetwood Bell, W. B. Martin, Thomas Williams, E. G. Summers, Charles Johnson, John Sexton and C. J. Skirvin.

BOOK-REVIEW TEA TO HAVE MODERN SUCCESSFUL PLAY

Clifford Odets' "Waiting for Lefty," a play censored for its revolutionary leanings, will be read tomorrow at the book-review tea of the Unitarian church by Paul Veley.

Exciting literary circles of New York, Odets' rise to fame during the past year has been accredited a phenomenal achievement. Three of his plays were produced in one New York season and the Herald Tribune called his talent "the most exciting thing to appear in the American theater since the flaming emergence of Eugene O'Neill." The play was featured at Yale university as the Drama League's annual production.

Paul Veley, who reads, is a professional actor. He began his work in San Francisco previous to the earthquake and fire. After two seasons of stock in California, Mr. Veley went to Honolulu, concluding his dramatic work in New York.

During the past few years, Mr. Veley has spent his time in California and Oregon writing and assisting his wife, the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, in her church work.

The reading, which will take the place of the play by Mrs. Mae B. Geisinger as previously announced, will begin promptly at 3 o'clock. Tea will be served at 4. A collection will be taken for the church's re-roofing fund. Music for the program will be furnished by the Visel studios.

Mary Stoddard Unhappy Ending of Deep Love Shoves Wife Into Well of Heartbreaking Despair

BY MARY STODDARD
To those who have come out of the depths of a lost love, the letter today from Heartbroken will evoke real sympathy. Two people pledge faith to love and obey until death. But loves are rarely even. Always one is greater than the other and time finds one of the couples floundering, losing his affection, straying elsewhere. Then comes the maelstrom of despair for the one who is left.

Those who survive the blackness of living in the agony of lost love gain something from life however which is rich to have. If ever they lacked tolerance or sympathy, they'll have its comfort in their lives thereafter. Occasionally one goes bitter. Heartbroken, with a child to live for, can't do that. Her battle will be hard.

Twin Sisters Celebrating Together

Mrs. T. P. Kingrey of 316 Beverly drive, and her twin sister, Mrs. A. W. Smith of Glendale, are celebrating their birthday anniversary together today in Beverly Hills, where their daughters are entertaining them.

Mrs. Kingrey's daughter, Mrs. Marcus Loh of Beverly Hills, is entertaining her mother as a houseguest this week. Mrs. Loh and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Fern Barry of Glendale, took their mothers to luncheon and a matinee today. The dual celebration is traditional with the sisters.

The Santa Anan will return home Friday.

LAGUNA HOTEL IS SCENE OF GAY DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Erna M. Burns, 508 Hickory street, extended a delightful courtesy to a group of their friends Saturday evening when they were hosts at a dinner party in the Casa del Camino, Laguna Beach.

After dinner, the guests went up on the roof garden to view the ocean by moonlight before settling themselves in the lobby for an evening of bridge.

Attractive prizes were won by Kenneth King, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Alexander and Mrs. Oris Householder.

Other guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Tournat, Frank Bettis, W. E. McBay and R. R. Meairs, Mrs. King, and Mr. Householder.

AQUAPLANING IS ENTERTAINMENT FOR SANTA ANANS

Aquaplaning provided entertainment for a group of Santa Anans, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briggs and Miss Alyce Majors, who spent last week at Catalina Island.

Miss Majors returned home Sunday night and yesterday was displaying a very deep tan, while Mr. and Mrs. Briggs are expected to return to Santa Ana tomorrow.

'If In Doubt'

P. O.: My definition of sportsmanship would be to lose oneself in the joy of the game. To play hard, and win or lose fairly, and as far as possible—at least, as far as any onlooker could tell, to lose without regret or dissatisfaction.

ANOTHER MENACE, MAYBE

LONG hair, says a Hollywood dispatch, is coming back. Of course, a great many people will remark it's never been away, although probably 90 per cent of American women have bobbed hair.

We don't know why long hair is coming back. Our guess is that somebody is making a picture in which there is a song about long hair, sung by 12,000 chorines accompanied by 12,000 young men playing on golden organs in a small beer parlor in Crunch Center, Iowa, which is the locale of the picture. This is just a guess on our part, but there is probably some subtle reason for the return of elongated curls.

But what is worrying us is the manner in which our reformers are going to take the idea. Every time women change fashions, there is a terrific uproar and the world is announced as cascading to the canines. It was so with skirts, bathing dresses, bobbed hair, lipstick and, in the old days, with hosiery.

So long hair, we fear, soon will be discovered to be immoral. Children will blush as mother combs her tresses. Husbands will stammer and change the subject when some comment is made on wives' hair being two feet long. Probably, in the end, Walter Lippmann will be stirred to calm all fears and write a piece on the economic consequences of long hair—pointing out that the ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans managed to survive it.

Maybe everything will come out all right, though. It usually does. Even hair.

GATHERING SPEED

LAST spring a reporter went out and talked casually to 100 persons. Of them, 56 were pessimistic; the others thought the world might survive, after all. The other day, the same reporter repeated his experiment. He discovered only 13 gloomy persons out of his 100.

That tells the story—the same story that is being told in lumber production, salmon canning, fruit growing, wheat raising, tourist travel, retail sales—a score of cold statistics. The story is:

The west is on its way again. Better than all the figures is the proof anyone may have by talking to friends, neighbors, merchants and visitors. Optimism is the usual thing today; yesterday, the optimist was regarded as a bit daft.

True, we still have our problems—but today we have the will to solve them and the confidence that they WILL be solved. We still need jobs for men, but the employment figures creep steadily upward. There are still too many idle millions in banks—but they are slowly coming into the light and being put to work.

A locomotive doesn't dash out of a depot at 60 miles an hour. The main thing is that the start has been made, the pace is accelerated, the signals show green—and we're on our way on the right track.

WHERE THE DANGER LIES

GOV. BIBB GRAVES of Alabama sees more danger in the suppression of free speech and press than in the railing of a red soap-boxer or pamphleteer. Therefore, when the legislature sent him the "anti-sedition bill" it had passed over protests from labor and liberal newspapers, he vetoed it.

The American Legion, of Alabama, which sponsored the measure to suppress seditious speech and writing, should read the word of E. A. Hayes, former national commander of the Legion, on this subject.

"It is neither desirable nor necessary," he said, "that any portion of our properly treasured freedom of speech should be destroyed in order to allay the ravages of the disease of communism or any other ism. The soapbox orator should be given full sway regardless of the length of his hair or the absurdity of his rantings. It is not so much the insurrection of the ignorant we need fear in this country; it is the laziness of the intelligent."

HAD BETTER FORGET IT

IN KING COUNTY, Washington, Seattle's county, the prosecutor proposes to put up a white cross at every spot where a fatal automobile accident has occurred. This stunt, he says, will help to cut down accidents.

It won't—and it may serve to increase them. There are enough distractions along highways now, without adding more.

For a few days, passing motorists may notice the crosses, but after that they will become as uninteresting as fence posts, and get about as much attention.

And what of the feelings of relatives and friends of the victims whose deaths are thus publicly advertised? Aren't they worth a moment's consideration?

Every possible measure should be taken, of course, to cut down the shameful toll of life on the highways. But exhibitionistic stunts like cross-planting are out of place in a civilized country.

COUNTY TAX RATE LOWER

IT IS gratifying to note a decrease in the tax rate of Orange county, officially announced yesterday by County Auditor Lambert. Almost without exception the expense of government has increased. To be an exception is especially complimentary to all of the forces unifying their efforts to reach such a conclusion.

The economic stress has placed a heavy overhead on all kinds of relief agencies. These are in excess of fixed charges, and difficult to estimate. To be able to arrive at a reduced operating expense under existing conditions is an accomplishment.

However, the incident only goes to add to the evidence which Orange county has amassed ever since its independence from Los Angeles county—that its executive management has been effective, its integrity unspotted, and its record one of exceptional merit.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Gelett Burgess has rounded in from Paris after an absence of nine years. Nearing 60, he is one of those eternally spry fellows whose nimble mind has sparked some of the finest nonsense and philosophic musings in American literature.

His Purple Cow poem has lingered longer than perhaps a passing rhyme of any period. His terming of anything trite as "a bromide" has, of course, become a part of the language. As well as minting a half-hundred other coinages such as "huzzecoo" and "scumster."

Boston born, he started out as an engineer and was an instructor in topographical drawing and a designer for some years, until in a frolicsome moment he began editing "The Lamb" in San Francisco. Here his flair for unusual phrasing and work tricks attracted eastern editors.

During his exile in Paris he had an apartment on Boulevard Raspail near Du Dome and Rotonde in the heart of the Latin Quarter. Here he has written successful novels and been the associate of such intellectual giants as Abbe Dimnet, James Joyce and others.

Few have so completely reversed their manner of living as William MacHarg, the novelist. He was for years one of the most secluded of his guild, living bachelor fashion in a New York cloister from which he rarely emerged save to visit editors. Among intimates he was known as Fireside Bill, with a fierce hatred for anything outdoorsy. A few years ago and with violent protests he was persuaded by his brother-in-law, Edwin Balmer, to play his first game of golf. The innocation was an astonishing success. From that day he has been up at dawn and off to the links. He moved from town to Westchester, tramped through the woods, rides horseback and only visits the city when forced by business.

A gentleman with an older day hallelujah for the Richard Carle type of comedian confides: "Where may one find another cadaverous Carle dancing, his waiter's tray aloft, about with a winsome hussey and bringing up with a split-second stop before his wife's bedroom door just as she opened. Ah, my friend that was real theater!"

Another slim and bald light comedian of the Carle era was Ralph Hertz. A Viennese, as I recall, he, although older, had the feather-footed nimbleness of Fred Astaire, seemingly able to float over chairs, divans and tables as he waited his partner in puff-ball swoops about the stage. He was Astaire's build and physiognomy, too.

Peter B. Kyn is latest of established writers to take a whirl at a punch-the-clock existence of the Hollywood studio. He will continue to turn out short stories, and after a disciplinary stretch of office routine, attending conferences and all the rigamarole, he will, of course, go back to full-length novels.

Greenwich Village has followed uptown New York in going almost completely cafeteria. While Madam Bertilotti's table d'hôte along with a few other hallowed red ink sanctuaries are still patronized, the expansive glittery serve-yourself places are filled with the long and short-haired, sandaled, smocked and surface brilliant types of the 85-cent basement dinner places. One edging Sheridan Square is in high favor of the moment and a rendezvous for the silhouette cutters, the hawkers of radical tracts, Russian cigarettes and sculpted gee-gaws.

The back-tracking Roscoe Peacock discovers that Ambrose Bierce included in his versatility an amazing gift for cartooning. While a sub-treasury watchman in San Francisco he drew a farcical series of the political fiasco of day, for fellow employees' amusement. They fell into other hands and were lithographed and emblezoned over the city. Someone sent Bierce anonymously a check for $400 but he refused to draw another cartoon.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — If there was ever a legislative "Orphan Annie" it is the pending tax bill.

Nobody will claim it. Even administration leaders privately deny parentage, sanctimoniously opining that it digresses in important details from the program laid down by the president. The right-wingers are "agin it" because they are opposed to any kind of tax legislation. Finally even the liberals sneer at it because it does not go far enough.

This unanimity of antipathy will not, however, prevent the bill from becoming law. It will pass—simply because none of the groups is willing to shoulder the political responsibility for killing it.

That such an anomalous situation should exist on so important a piece of legislation is due entirely to the president. It was his spur-of-the-moment action in tossing a complex issue into the legislative hopper without adequate preparation that caused the present mishapen compromise. It is neither fish nor fowl.

From the early days of his regime, members of the president's inner circle urged him to formulate and sponsor a comprehensive revision of the federal tax system. They argued that this was essential to meet two critical conditions:

- (1) the growing treasury deficit, requiring additional revenue;
- (2) the dangerous concentration of vast wealth.

HUEY'S PUNCH PULLED

MR. ROOSEVELT was fully in accord with these theories. But he did nothing to translate his views into action. Among his intimates the opinion was general that he intended taking up the tax problem in his second term.

But along in the spring something happened. That something was Huey Long. Numerous reports reached the president of the popularity and spread of Huey Long's "share-the-wealth" clamor. A growing volume of criticism over the fact that while unemployment rolls showed no signs of improvement, dividends and profits were zooming skyward, also disturbed him.

The president decided that a counter gesture was necessary. So he had a talk with Vice President Charles McNary. That veteran political poker player urged him to follow his hunch. The president is good on hunches, and shortly thereafter the surprise tax message to congress followed.

The pronouncement was strictly a trial balloon. The president had no bill, no schedules or rates to back it up. He sent the balloon up and waited to see what would happen.

He didn't have long to wait. The liberals rolled up their sleeves, announced that they read the president's message as meaning immediate action, and declared flatly there would be no adjournment until a bill was enacted. That put old guard democratic congressional leaders on the spot.

OLD GUARDS

SECRETLY they were furious with the president, hated the thought of boosting taxes, but didn't dare say so.

So they conceived the plan of rushing a bill through at express speed, on the theory that such tactics would insure an innocuous result. It was a crafty scheme. The trouble was it didn't work.

There was a terrific outcry against such speed. The president became alarmed, denied he approved of it or had any hand in it. The liberals threatened to filibuster. That torpedoed the plan, after which the house ways and means committee was given the job of drawing up a bill.

This committee made up entirely of old guarders, summoned Secretary Morgenthau to submit the administration's views on what the bill should contain. But Mr. Morgenthau refused to do any advising. The administration, he said flatly, was leaving the job of drafting the bill entirely up to congress—meaning the democratic leaders.

In other words, having proclaimed a major policy in a flood of brave words, the president washed his hands of the matter when it came to the details of putting that policy into practice.

BURNED ACTUARIES

THE TRUTH was that the treasury had found the original soak-the-rich tax would yield so little income that the actuarial statements proving this were hurriedly torn up. The administration wanted no dynamite lying around which enemies on capitol hill could get hold of.

A tax on incomes of more than $100,000 would have netted the country just about $5,000,000. Even the tax bill as rewritten now by the house is a polyglot affair about which almost no one knows anything. The amount it will yield has been estimated at about $275,000,000.

As a result of all this, it looks as if the president will have on his hands a bill that does not reform, is merely a drop in the bucket as a revenue-raiser, and yet is just annoying enough to intensify the fury of Roosevelt's foes.

JOHN ROOSEVELT

TVA officials had direct orders from the White House to keep the lay on news regarding John Roosevelt, who was working there. On a recent Saturday night, young John laid off work in the forestry camp, threw aside his high boots and khaki shirt, got all dressed up, and went to town to a dance.

At the "Wonderland Club" in Elkton, Tenn., John stepped out. He danced three or four times, with a different girl each time. And nobody knew who he was. But the incognito didn't last. The orchestra leader recognized him and began to play a Harvard song.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Monotony Is Man's Greatest Enemy

Montony, dead-level existence, is man's great enemy. Not work, nor danger, nor fortuitous events; not hunger, nor greed, nor heedless conflict, but the endless flow of unfruffed time breaks down resistance, morale and strength. Not the rude buffeting of hostile chance but the steady monotonous attrition of "nothing doing" gnaws a man's heart away.

Because of this hopelessness men have turned to all sorts of "escape mechanisms" to shatter, at least momentarily, the senseless world of reality and build for themselves a rosy realm of unreality. They become alcohol or drug addicts. They turn to mock-herosies such as vice, crime and suicide.

A social manifestation of this urge to get away from ourselves is found in the mad rush for entertainment. Thirty million Americans, weekly, see, such release from boredom by crowding the movie palaces of the land. No estimate can be made of the social tension safely relieved by legitimate forms of public amusement.

If physical strain relaxes under laughter our social stresses must likewise find relief in wholesale social laughing. Who knows what brooding social insanity and violence have been averted by the movie and the radio? America has done more than other nations in teaching the world to laugh.

On a natural scale monotonous living leads to a psychosis of war. The many crusades, against war, the control of munitions, elimination of profiteering, disarmament programs, will not avert the danger of conflict so long as men everywhere compare the glamour of war with their own daily drab existence. The deadening monotony of shop and farm and office, the constant suppressions and inhibitions of the concepts of duty, patriotism, obedience, and the makings of war are always at hand.

The uniform offers an escape, and holds possibility of heroism, glamour and glory. Combine this with the concepts of duty, patriotism, obedience, and the makings of war are always at hand.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

When George Rogers invited the supervisors to become his guests on a tour of Newport harbor, there appeared to be a conflicting opinion as to whether it was a fishing trip or one of those restful excursions around the rapidly developing harbor. So Supervisor West came all prepared in khaki, and John Mitchell with an assortment of fishing equipment to meet any emergency. They were conspicuous because they were different. John's shoulder-lagged a trifle on one side, while West appeared to be all right most of the time. Next event Rogers should send specifications with each invitation.

About half sore at this type-writer. Sometimes the darn thing won't spell right, and other times it transposes the letters. Guess it's the heat.

If someone will return to me a small pair of dry goods scissors, enclosed in a leather folder so the ends would not interfere with my lattice work, proper obedience will be offered, and thanks acknowledged. I don't think I loaned them. They have been my associate ever since the World war. It's like losing an old comrade. Now don't cry. If you refuse to bring 'em back I'll get another pair. But I'll never think the same of you.

California voters are deciding today whether they want to add another thirteen million dollars to the state's already heavy indebtedness, or drag along with the present burden. The way states and the nation are piling up obligations for future generations to pay, makes me think that it wasn't so unlucky to have been born 50 years ago.

Freddie Carson, impulsing his way to Salt Lake City in an gasoline motor chair, meets with a crack-up in Nevada. Lot of collisions occur in Nevada, mostly at Reno.

One of my friends drifted in yesterday. She wants some novel. That's what it will be if she ever writes it. It takes work to assemble enough sentences in readable form to collect $1.50 per volume. Rupert Hughes can do it. He works like everything all the time. In that respect he is like his old dad, one of the best legal minds in Iowa. He's gone now, but his sons are carrying on.

Jabe Hill picks out one of those days when the thermometer wants to climb, and then has the courage to go out. It's always cool in Santa Ana, but he smiled when he said it. That's the only reason he is not getting flowers.

Max Gowdy has gone to Fresno with other members of the American Legion. There he will be in August, but Fresno isn't one of them. How the Legion happened to select Fresno has not been explained to me, nor is it necessary. But I can't understand why a Legion man wants to keep his dues paid just to go there—in August.

Terry Stephenson came in yesterday to tell me how the bond election is going. Maybe he just came in to try and tell me. I'll know more about it tomorrow morning. But if taxpayers feel the way I do about bond elections, they won't have a friend in the state.

Joe Steele turns in a questionnaire on "where are you going and how did you get there when you've never started." This is the most sensible inquiry of the type that has reached this department, and is to be recommended for use during all political campaigns.

Dr. John Ball has his ideas about toys and playthings. He got some of them from the magazine Time. Lucky for me Sam Jernigan, Frank West, Floyd Gordon and Barney Traveller came along or the persuasion might have cost me 25 cents.

Oscar Carothers set enough gas burners under the boilers at the Holly Sugar plant to put some 350 men to work, and then loaded up a trailer and started for Big Bear. He didn't tell me whether it was rest or a vacation.

Walt Collins tells me that a project is under way to give suitable recognition to the mystic hour of 11, a time of memory for members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. It is the hour when a toast is given to the absent brothers. The plan is to arrange for chimies, to be sounded when the hour of 11 arrives. It is a beautiful custom, and brings to remembrance those friends of days gone by whose companionship along the highway of life helped to lighten the burden of responsibility, and gave encouragement when clouds of adversity made the future obscure.
